VINTAGE NOTES - 2023:

The 2023 growing season in Horse Heaven Hills started cool and slow, with spring temperatures running below normal. Warmer weather returned in May, setting the stage for a more typical season overall. Yields were lighter, with smaller berries and tighter clusters, which translated into fruit of excellent quality and concentration. Sauvignon Blanc arrived early — as soon as late August — showing vibrant aromatics and lively acidity, while the reds developed great color, structure, and depth. The result is a vintage defined by energy and elegance, with wines that carry both immediate appeal and the promise of age.
